

Noises in the night

The noises in the night give us a clue to the nocturnal animals that are living in your local area. Listen to the animal sounds on the link below.

www.australianenvironmentaleducation.com.au/noises-in-the-night/

Spend some time listening to the sounds in your backyard in the evening. Do you recognise any of the noises?

Draw a picture one of the animals you heard in its habitat

Looking for clues

Explore your backyard or local area for clues to help you identify common nocturnal animals living in your area. Make sure you look on the ground, in the trees and shrubs and in the air

| | |
|--------|--|
| Scats | |
| Tracks | |
| Traces | |

What does these terms mean?

Scats: Animal droppings

Tracks: Footprints

Traces: Feathers, burrows, webs, insect exoskeletons, chewed leaves, cocoons, nests

Remember to tread lightly and don't disturb their home!

Discovered something cool? Take a photo, post it on Instagram and make sure you hashtag
#penrithwild