MAYORAL MESSAGE

I am pleased to present Penrith's Youth Action Plan. The development of this Plan is a positive step towards strengthening Council's support for young people in Penrith and builds on the excellent youth development work that has occurred over the past few years.

The Youth Action Plan is a strategic document which informs the direction and focus of Council's youth initiatives, services and programs over the next five years. It also identifies community groups and other government partners to work together with us delivering the things that matter to young people in Penrith.

Penrith is currently home to more than 68,000 people aged under 25 years old. This figure represents almost half of our local population and it reinforces that young people are a significant and valuable part of our community.

Our youth contribute to our City in many ways as active members of schools, community groups, cultural and creative groups, sporting groups and as volunteers and workers. As they get older, their roles within our City and our community will become even more important.

Young people today are our leaders, changemakers, problem solvers and innovators of tomorrow and they are the key to our City's bright and successful future. It is our responsibility to ensure they have the support, tools, and opportunities they need to realise their full potential.

The Youth Action Plan centres around four key themes which reflect the needs, priorities and ambitions raised by young people and the community in Council's youth survey conducted in 2020.

Connection, Wellbeing, Access, and Pathways were all identified as being important in young people's lives and these four themes underpin the actions for Council to work towards achieving the best outcomes for young people.

As well as identifying recommendations, objectives, and actions under each of the themes, the Youth Action Plan outlines timeframes, lead and supporting organisations, how implementation will be measured and the status of each action.

It's a strong plan for action that formalises Council's desire to support young people living in Penrith, and ensures we are well placed to recognise and respond to their changing needs now.

I'd like to thank everyone involved in the development of this Plan, and we look forward to working together with our partners and our community to ensure young people in Penrith become happy, healthy and productive citizens of tomorrow.

DEMOGRAPHIC SNAPSHOT

Key facts

Young people are those aged between 12 and 24 years old.

In 2016, there were 34,659 young people living in Penrith City within a total population of 196,066. In 2016, young people made up 17.7% of Penrith's population. This is a higher proportion than in Greater Western Sydney (GWS) (17.4%) and NSW (15.9%).

Young People as a Proportion of Total Population, 2016 ABS Census

In Penrith there are 15,203 people aged 12-17 years and 19,456 people aged 18-24 years.

The population of young people living in Penrith in 2036 is forecast to increase to 44,178 within a total population of 258,195. The proportion of young people will then be 17.1% - only a 0.6% decrease from the proportion in 2016 (17.7%).

Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Young People in Penrith City

In 2016, there were 2,152 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people. This is an increase of 617 people (348%) since 2011.

Of the total population of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in Penrith in 2016, 27.8% were young people, representing a significantly younger age profile compared to the overall community.

In 2016, 6.2% of all young people in Penrith were Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander. This is a higher proportion of all young people in both GWS (2.8%) and NSW (4.6%).

Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Communities

In 2016, 5,278 young people in Penrith were born overseas. The top ten countries of birth for this age range were New Zealand, Philippines, India, England, Pakistan, Samoa, China, Fiji, Sudan, South Africa.

The top 10 languages other than English spoken by 12-24 year old people in Penrith are Arabic, Samoan, Hindi, Tagalog, Punjabi, Spanish, Urdu, Mandarin, Greek and Croatian.

Mental Health and Wellbeing

The Headspace National Youth Mental Survey 2020 showed that across Australia rates of psychological distress were high, with 34% of young people reporting high or very high levels of distress, which is similar to the rate reported in 2018 (32%). The same survey showed that in 2020, 12-14 year olds were not managing life stress as well as they were in 2018.

In NSW, the Youth Health Framework 2017-2024 shows that the issues with the highest rates of concern for young people are:

Issue of Personal Concern	Extremely Concerned or Very Concerned (%)
Coping with Stress	44.5%
School or Study Problems	39.9%
Body Image	30.6%
Depression	23.6%
Family Conflict	23.5%
Personal Safety	19.9%

Physical Health and Wellbeing

Overweight and Obesity in children and young people aged 2-17 years

The most recent data on rates of overweight and obesity for children and young people in Penrith was collected by the ABS 2017-18 National Health Survey, reported by the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare (AIHW). That data shows rates of overweight and obesity in Penrith for children and young people was higher than GWS and NSW.

Rates of Children 2-17 who are Overweight or Obese in 2017-18

Engagement with the Workforce and Education

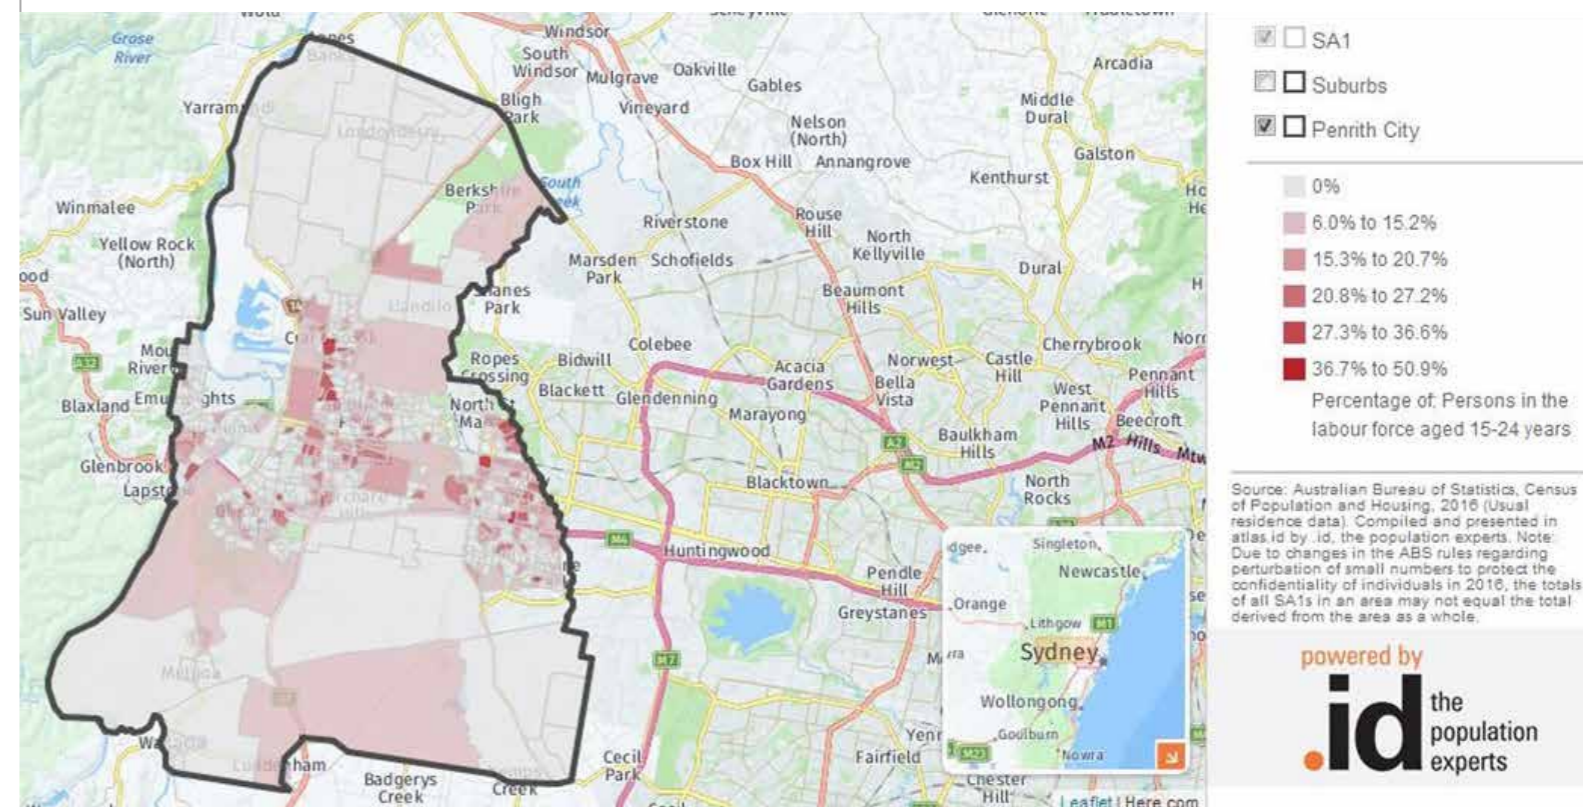

In 2016, 10.2% of 15 to 24 year old people in Penrith were disengaged with employment and education, compared to 9% in NSW. This rate is similar to 2011 (10.3%)

Employment

In 2016, there were 15,955 young people living in Penrith that were employed. They made up 16.8% of all employed people living in Penrith in comparison to 14.7% for the same age group living in GWS.

43.8% of employed young people were employed part time and 50.8% were employed full time. In the 2016 ABS Census 5.4% of employed young people noted that they were away from work or did not state their hours.

Penrith, Youth Unemployment Rate (persons aged 15-24)

Unemployment rate for people 15-24 years old, 2020-2021 (ABS Labour Force Survey)

When looking at how unemployment for young people may have changed over 2020 and 2021, we can see that across Australia the unemployment rate has decreased. However, this does not take into account the rates of full time, part time and casual employment and does not show rates of underemployment.

Industry of employment, five most common, Penrith youth (15 to 24 years) 2016

COUNCIL'S SUPPORT FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Council has a long history of supporting young people across the City and provides a range of services and facilities to meet the diverse needs of young people. These include the provision of recreation facilities such as skate parks, neighbourhood centres for youth services to operate from and subsidies for school holiday programs. Council also delivers a range of events, grants and programs specifically for young people, including Youth Week and programs such as the annual Penrith Mayoral Challenge which invites young people to co-design a new park for their community.

As the future leaders of our City, Council is dedicated to empowering young people to thrive. Council works closely with a range of stakeholders such as youth services, industry groups, sports clubs and education and training providers to address the emerging needs of young people.

Youth Action Plan engagement

The Youth Action Plan was developed in 2020 in consultation with young people aged 12-25 years who either lived, worked, studied or spent time in Penrith.

To ensure young people's voices were heard, Council reached out and engaged with a diverse range of young people, representing different ages, subcultures, interests, and priorities. This engagement was undertaken via an online survey on Council's Your Say Penrith website. The survey was distributed widely on social media, community and youth networks, local radio and other mechanisms as identified.

Over 280 young people had their say and provided feedback about their priorities, challenges and aspirations which included the importance of:

- 1. Social connections - fulfilling connections and strong relationships with family and peers.
- 2. Education, training and employment - meaningful connections to education skill development and work.
- 3. Recreation and events - access to recreational opportunities and low-cost free events and activities.
- 4. Health and wellbeing - being healthy and having access to appropriate services.
- 5. Personal beliefs and values - being happy, living in a safe community, faith, being valued, having a secure future, happy relationships, meaningful social connections and a hopeful future.
- 6. Environment and sustainability - environmental sustainability into the future and to have clean and well-maintained outdoor areas to enjoy.
- 7. Safety - to feel safe in the community, in public spaces and at home.
- 8. Access to services - to know what services are available and how to access them.
- 9. Accommodation and housing - access to affordable, secure and safe places to live.
- 10. Arts and culture - music, playing in bands, hobbies and artistic pursuits.

The Youth Action Plan was developed in response to this feedback shared by young people, outlining a series of actions for Council and local stakeholders to deliver over the next 5 years to support young people across the City to thrive.

In Penrith young people can access a wide range of services for support, as listed on the Youth Services Card. This can be accessed via penrith.city.

THEME 1 - CONNECTION

Young people have opportunities to feel connected to each other and the broader community through participation in social, cultural and environmental projects and activities.

This includes opportunities for young people to participate in youth focused activities and events, formal and informal sporting groups, engagement with arts and culture groups/activities and involvement in environmental and sustainability projects.

Research will be undertaken with young people to identify what barriers young people are experiencing that challenge participation and what further actions need to be undertaken to improve involvement.

THEME 2 - WELLBEING

Young people have opportunities to be active, safe and make lifestyle choices that support physical and mental well-being.

Key to this theme is for young people to be able to engage with services and activities that support well-being including sport and mental health services and to seek assistance as required.

Delivery of programs that encourage early intervention and prevention to reduce harm to young people will be the framework for this theme.

THEME 3 - PATHWAYS

Young people have meaningful pathways to what they need now and for their future.

Access to education, training and employment can have profound impacts on the long-term well-being of our community. This theme will seek to identify barriers that young people face regarding school retention and seeking employment and put into place appropriate resources to support positive outcomes.

Access to stable, safe and affordable housing now and into the future and improved pathways for young people to secure accommodation will also be explored.
