MAYOR'S MESSAGE

It is an honour to be Mayor of Penrith for the next two years. This is my fourth term as Mayor and I look forward to working closely with Cr Greg Davies as Deputy Mayor.

I also take this opportunity to thank former Mayor John Thain and former Deputy Mayor Tricia Hitchen for their tireless work for our City over the last two years.

It is an exciting time to be a decision maker in Western Sydney. In March, Penrith was one of eight councils to sign the Western Sydney City Deal. This agreement brings together three tiers of government to unlock opportunities in education, business and employment and deliver important infrastructure such as the North South Rail link.

One of the most exciting aspects of the City Deal is the Liveability Fund. The fund will support a major project to foster a healthy community and enhance liveability. The initiative fits with Council's vision for Penrith as a connected, vibrant city that meets the wants and needs of our residents now and in the future.

With an airport on our border and government housing targets to meet, we know growth is inevitable. But how we grow is up to us.

As Mayor, I will continue to support growth that protects what we most love about Penrith. I will continue to foster strategic alliances and partnerships to provide more local jobs, better connected town centres and access to world-leading educational institutions and health services.

Recent examples include our alliance with key stakeholders in The Quarter – a health and education precinct that will create 6,000 knowledge jobs, and our support of the Sydney Science Park which will generate 12,000 jobs and position Penrith as a hub of innovation and excellence.

This newsletter highlights many of our City's strengths. I hope to see you at some of the great events that are coming up, like Spicy Penrith and Real Festival.

PRESERVING OUR PENRITH

The importance of South Creek's unique waterways and natural landscape has been recognised by the NSW Government in a new land use plan for the areas surrounding Western Sydney Airport.

The release of the first stage of the Government's Land Use and Infrastructure Implementation Plan supports Council's vision for South Creek and commits to the care, preservation and development of the region.

Council has long held the view that the health of our waterways, green spaces and pristine natural assets are imperative to the future of our City.

South Creek will act as a 'green spine' for the lands around the airport, giving our community access to more green spaces and recreational opportunities, and ensure that the biodiversity of our region is cared for and nurtured.

Penrith's unique location offers a combination of stunning landscapes and sophisticated urban amenities that make it one of the most appealing cities in Western Sydney. Council is committed to preserving our natural environment and supporting the active, healthy lifestyle that Penrith is renowned for.

The NSW Government is currently calling on the community to have its say on the first stage of the Western Sydney Aerotropolis Land Use and Infrastructure Implementation Plan, which is on exhibition until 12 October 2018. To find out more visit: planning.nsw.gov.au.

NEW WASTE CONTRACT SIGNED

Penrith Council signed the new Waste Management contract recently. The new 10-year contract was awarded to Suez after a long and competitive tender process, and will commence from July 2019.

Council is committed to providing a great quality service to residents, and continuing to reduce waste going to landfill with our award winning 3-bin Food Organics and Garden Organics (FOGO) system.

This new contract allows us to continue and expand the delivery of the 3-bin system and implement service improvements that benefit residents and the environment.

Some of the improvements included in the new contract are:

- Relatively stable pricing for the next 10 years – while other waste practices are set to have price increases, the 3-bin FOGO system means Council is able to protect residents from the bulk of rising landfill taxes.
- Cutting-edge technology fitted in all trucks that track collections in real-time, which means we can respond to queries faster, and use that information to improve performance and reduce missed collections over time.
- Enquiries will be brought in-house at Council, which means residents will have a one-stop-shop for all waste questions and bookings, making it a lot easier for them to access our services and get assistance when they need it.

- Residents will also continue to have access to existing services including 4 free bulky waste collections each year, extra collections over Christmas, specialised collection events throughout the year, and the free Community Recycling Centre.

Being able to expand the 3-bin system to more homes is an outstanding outcome and benefit of the new contract. Reducing the amount of waste we send to landfill saves money, conserves resources, saves energy and water, and reduces pollution. That's exactly what our 3-bin system does and why it's important.

Penrith's green-lidded bins are almost unique in NSW, as they can take food organics and garden organics. These organic materials are then turned into high quality compost that is used to enrich local gardens, playgrounds and open spaces. It's a continuous cycle that keeps waste out of landfill, keeps costs down, and protects the environment.

Under the new contract, Suez has also committed to ensuring Council exceeds our set targets for diverting waste from landfill. Additionally, our organic waste will be processed by Australian Native Landscapes, which will improve the quality of the compost made from organic waste collected from the green-lidded bins.

DISCOVER AFFORDABLE, QUALITY CHILDCARE WITH COUNCIL

Council owns and operates 26 childcare centres and preschools across the Penrith region.

Our centres offer affordable, quality care and a safe environment for all children.

Our staff are highly qualified, and all of our centres meet or exceed the standards set by the National Quality Framework.

We have competitive prices and most of our centres offer an all-inclusive fee, meaning there are no additional or hidden costs.

And because our centres are owned and run by Council, they're not-for-profit, which means all we care about is providing the absolute best care and education for your child.

Find out more about our services and secure your child's place now at penrithcity.nsw.gov.au.

TREE PLANTING CREATES BETTER PLACES TO LIVE

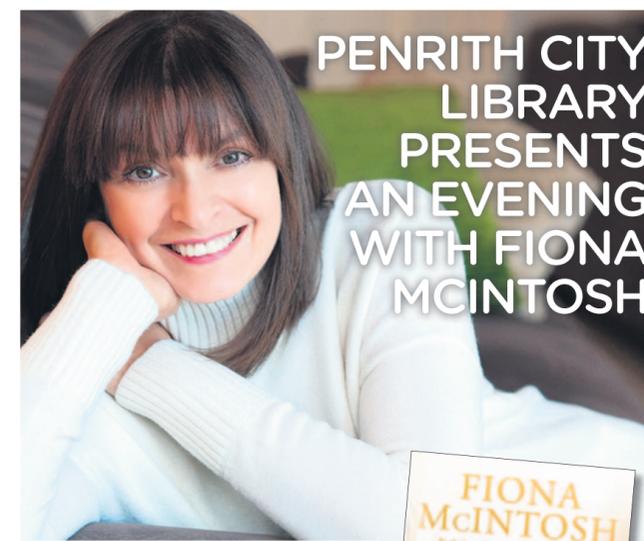

In October last year Council planted almost 100,000 trees and plants in open spaces across South Penrith and Emu Plains. As you can see from the photo, they're doing really well.

The trees were planted thanks to funding from the Australian Government's 20 Million Trees program. The plants include a mix of native trees, shrubs, and groundcovers. By using native plants we're creating extra habitat for our local native birds and animals. This work complements the existing bushland reserves we're lucky to have across our region.

Another advantage of native plants is that they're particularly well suited to our local climate. The plantings will also help reduce temperatures in summer and cool our suburbs into the future, in line with Council's Cooling the City Strategy.

Our suburbs are living places, and we all have a role to play. Residents can get involved with their own properties by planting native trees and shrubs and creating habitat in their own gardens, or planting trees for shading their homes.

NEW CAMPAIGN URGES VISITORS TO WAKE UP IN PENRITH

Penrith's world-class adventure attractions, spectacular natural landscapes and thriving foodie scene are the focus of a new regional tourism campaign running this spring to encourage families and active singles from the Greater Sydney area to visit the region and stay overnight.

The new campaign "Wake up with the Blue Mountains, Hawkesbury and Penrith" is an initiative of the Regional Strategic Alliance between Penrith, Hawkesbury and Blue Mountains councils, in partnership with Destination NSW.

The campaign offers a refreshed view of experiences within the Blue Mountains, Hawkesbury and Penrith. Activities like kayaking, mountain biking, tree top adventures and camping will be showcased in digital media, public relations activity and a partnership with Wotif. The campaign also highlights quirky and unique food picking, dining and cultural experiences.

Working cooperatively with our neighbouring areas to grow the local tourism industry was a key opportunity identified in Penrith Council's Destination Management Plan 2015. Council is committed to working with Destination NSW, our neighbouring regions and local tourism operators to promote our dynamic and diverse area and improve the visitor economy.

As a local you probably already know about all the great things to see and do in Penrith. But you might be surprised and discover something new that's in Penrith or our neighbouring regions. For more information go to visitnsw.com/wake-up-with.

CELEBRATING INTERNATIONAL DAY OF PEOPLE WITH DISABILITY

International Day of People with Disability is once again approaching. It's a day to think, talk about, and acknowledge people with disability and recognise the many and valuable contributions they make to our City.

Penrith is celebrating this important day with a free community event on Monday 3 December. So come to the Mondo greenspace (between the Joan Sutherland Performing Arts Centre and Westfield) between 9.30am - 12.30pm to enjoy a range of entertainment and interactive activities!

This event is all about dispelling myths and encouraging support for the rights, dignity and wellbeing of people of all abilities and everyone is welcome to attend.

With one in five Australians having a disability, this event highlights that disability doesn't define a person, rather it's just one part of who they are and it doesn't have to be a barrier to people doing what they always wanted to do.

This is a global event, established by the United Nations that raises awareness, understanding and acceptance of people with disability around the world. It celebrates the achievements and contributions of people with disability, and how this enriches our community and culture and also aims to break down the barriers of disability, and celebrate abilities of all kinds.

More information about the event will be available at penrithcity.nsw.gov.au or contact our Disability Inclusion Officer on 4732 8081.
